In New Company Negotiations.

It Has Held Up a Rubber Project.

Horse Shoe Patents Not Yet Transferred.

Largest Rubber Factory In the World.

A hitch in securing possession of the patents for a combination rubber horseshoe has retarded progress in the effort to organize a company Akron for the manufacture of the shoes. The patent is owned by a Cleveland man, and he has not yet agreed to terms transferring it to the Akron promoters. The prime mover in the enterprise, apparently believing the delay will be a long one, has temporarily abandoned the project. It is believed, however, that a new start will be ordered, less talking done and more solid effort made.

Mr. Edwin L. Billow who has been representing the Diamond Rubber Co., in Buffalo, wil return to Akron soon to enter the undertaking business with his father, Capt. Geo. Billow, is a graduate of a prominent college of embalming, and though he has been successful in the rubber trade, will make of himself a full-pledged under-

Methodists.

Plans Are Being Prepared For Handsome Church.

The Woodland Ave. Methodist Epis copal Society will have a church that will be a credit to the society and to the city, if the plans now under way are carried to completion without change.

Charles Henry & Son, the architects, are preparing plans for an edifice for that congregation, the ultimate cost of which, according to present indications, will be about $10,000.

The edifice will be of brick, with stone trimmings, cover a base 64x82 feet and although the plans are not yet complete, the indications are that there will be a handsome and beautiful home for the Woodland Ave. Methodist congregation. It is not considered probable that the work of building will be begun before the first of next year.
